Today's Life Science professionals depend on information technology and scientific activity to remain competitive. Your success depends on your ability to access, analyze, manage, and share data with staff scientists, external partners, agencies and customers.

Oracle can meet the challenges you face every day with the Unbreakable database solution that won't break your budget.

And partnering with Corporate Technologies will help you meet your challenges by addressing all of your data needs:

- :: databases
- :: data storage & management
- :: data warehousing
- :: data back-ups
- :: disaster recovery
- :: computational throughput

Your business isn't a video game. You can't just hit "restart" if things don't go your way.

Having the right technologies and integration partner can mean the difference between success and GAME OVER.
