
If your competitors had a crystal ball, would they see you in their future?

Unfortunately, there is no crystal ball to show you how today's decisions will impact your competitive advantage down the road.

But Oracle and Solbourne can help you navigate your business landscape today and into the future.

Give us one hour of your time* and share your current operational performance challenges with us to discuss how we can help you navigate your future. For your time, we will give you a complimentary Garmin Global Positioning System to guide you outside of the office.

Call Chip Eldridge at Solbourne, 214-783-7662, to schedule your appointment today!

*Offer is valid for addressee only and meeting must occur by September 17, 2003.

Guiding your business is an ongoing challenge. Having the right business solution and an experienced implementation partner can make the difference: making effective decisions versus failing to appear as a threat to your competitors in the future.

Oracle e-Business suite can streamline, standardize, connect and automate business processes to increase organizational and operational efficiency. By leveraging integrated business applications, companies have the information to make timely and informed business decisions, resulting in lower costs, increased productivity, less risk and sustained competitive advantage.

Solbourne specializes in implementing Oracle's business applications, offering a full spectrum of consulting and training solutions. With over a decade of experience, we have long standing client relationships that can only be earned one way: through excellent performance. Our unmatched reputation for on-time, on-budget projects is a testament to our commitment to client satisfaction and success.
